

If you have not done so already, using your phone, click this link to get to the Zoom app download:

<https://play.google.com/store/apps/details?id=us.zoom.videomeetings&hl=en>

Or

Go to the Google Play Store and search Zoom Cloud Meetings

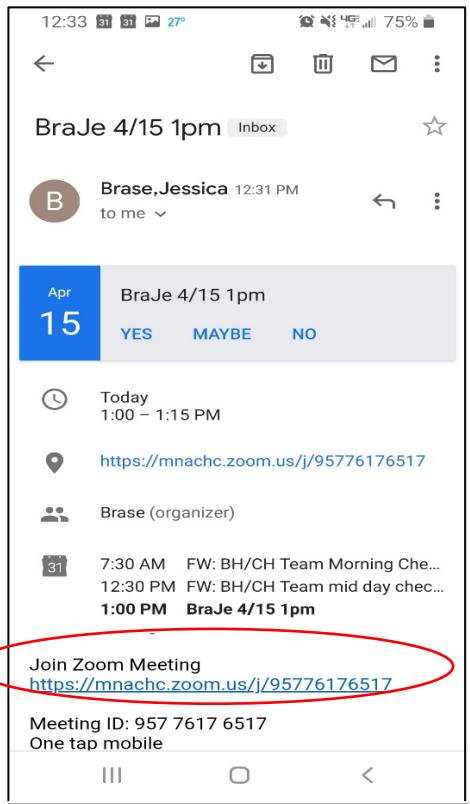

The download area in the play store looks like this. Where it says "open" on mine, it would say "install" if you have not downloaded it yet. If yours says "open" then that means you already have the app on your phone.

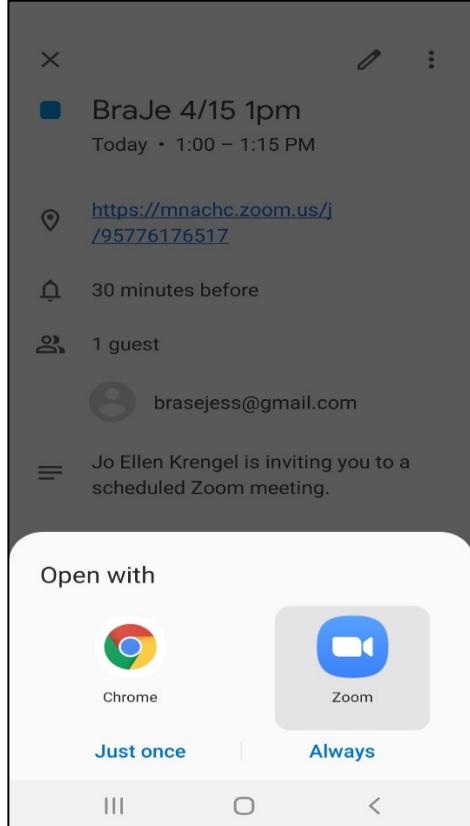

The icon for Zoom will look like this once downloaded.

A screenshot of an email inbox on a mobile device. The top status bar shows the time as 12:32, battery level at 75%, and a 4G signal. Below the status bar is a search bar with the placeholder "Search mail" and a profile picture of a person with the letter "J". The inbox is titled "PRIMARY". A single email message is visible, featuring a brown circular profile picture with a white letter "B". The sender's name is "Brase, Jessica" and the subject line is "BraJe 4/15 1pm". The message body starts with "Jo Ellen Krengel is inviting you to a s...". To the right of the message is a small gray star icon. The entire message area is enclosed in a rectangular box with a thin black border.

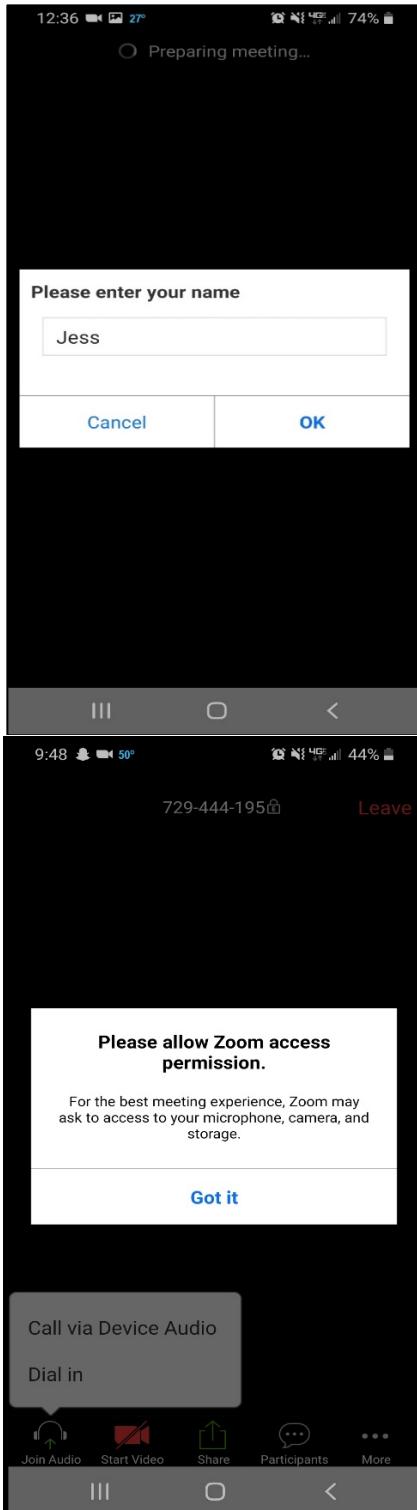

You will then get an email sent to the email we have on file

Depending on your email service provider, what is inside the email may look different, but all you need to do at the time of your appointment is click the link below “Join Zoom Meeting.”

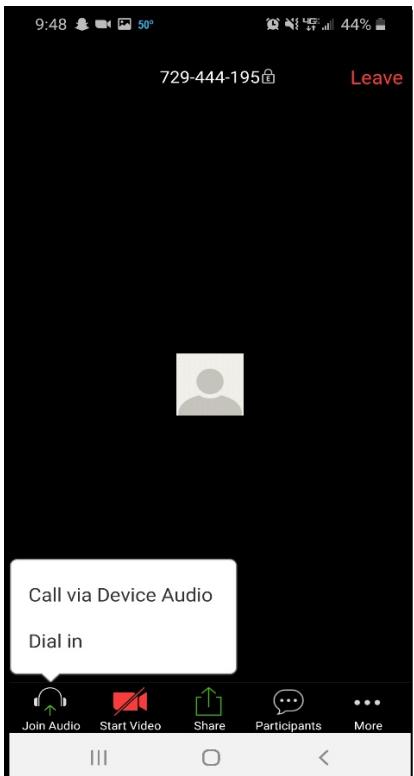

You phone will ask you what you want to open the application with. Select Zoom and click “just once” or “always”. My preference is “just once”.

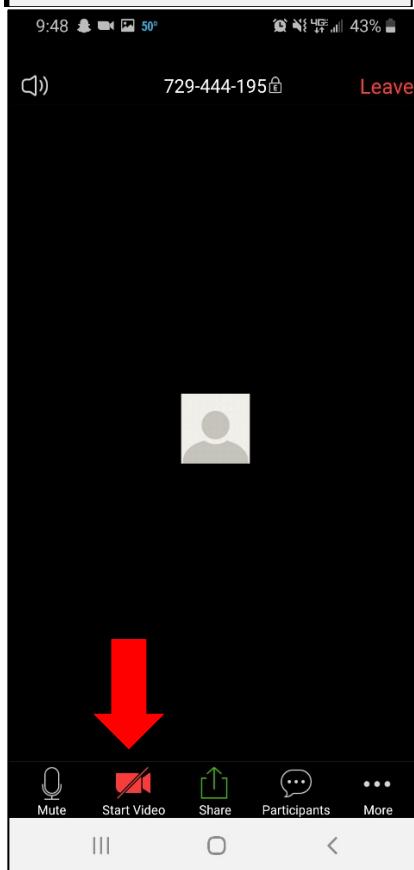

Enter your name

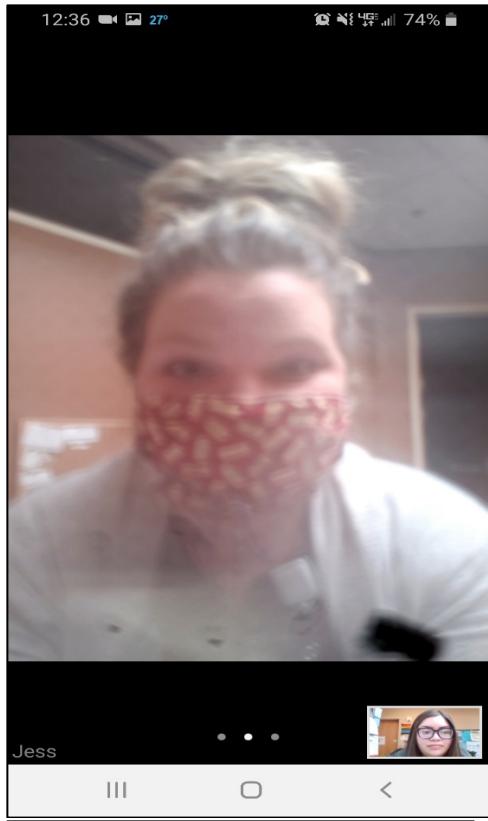

Select "Got It"

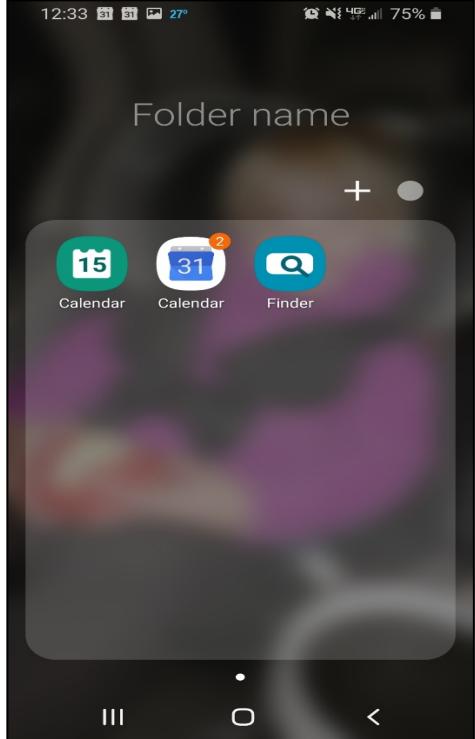

Select “Call via Device Audio”

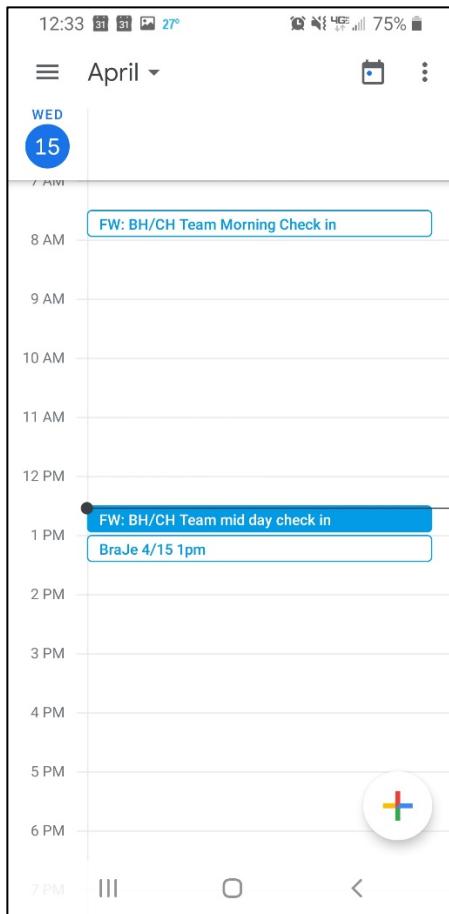

Select “Start Video”

This is what your meeting will look like. Your provider will be the larger video on your screen and you on theirs.

If you are having issues finding your meeting link in your email, check your calendar. The meetings are sent as calendar invitations and should come to your email and may post on your calendar. See next photo below for what it could look like.

You can access your appointment from this as well. Simply click on the appointment and find the link.
